1. Do you feel personal freedom to embrace the sentiment of the following quote from John Wesley...

“I put myself wholly in thy hands: put me to what thou wilt, rank me with whom thou wilt; let me be employed for thee, or laid aside for thee, exalted for thee, or trodden under foot for thee; let me be full, let me be empty, let me have all things, let me have nothing, I freely, and heartily resign all to thy pleasure and disposal.”

Yes / No? – Discuss together what might be holding you back from this measure of freedom

2. In a culture of honour we celebrate who a person is rather than stumbling over who they are not.

What is your default? Are you a ‘celebrator’ or a ‘stumbler’? What can you do to set yourself on a trajectory towards celebration of others?
